Gold Treasure Ship Located

Point Pleasant, N. J., June 21.—Two young deep sea divers saw a 13 yearold dream of finding $250,000 in sunken gold treasure coming true today. Floyd Sharp, 31, and William Conway, 25, rc. ported they had found the 51 year-old wreck of the liner sa Delaware, believed to have a quarter million dollars worth of gold on board, and they have been exploring it.

"We found some signs of gold on board, but we will have more to say about that next week," Conway said. He refused to elaborate.

Sharp explained that his interest in the wreck began in 1930, when Simon Lake, inventor of the submarine, led an expedition to recover the trensure but ran out of funds before locating it.

BECAME A DIVER

Sharp, who was then 18, dreamed of finding the treasure some day for himself. He Begen to collect all the information he could about the sinking, and resolved to become a deep sea diver. He verified that the Delaware had on board $250,000 in gold when she sank on July 9, 1898, and found five men alive in Point Pleasant who remembered witnessing the sinking. From them he got bearings from which he made a chart. .

And he went into partnership with his friend Conway, to purchase $4,000 worth of salvage, equipment. Severni months ago they began working with a dragger in the vicinity which the area. witnesses pointed out, and on June 10 found the wreck lying

London, June 21.—Britain on Tuesday ordered a warship—the Black Swan—at the mouth of the Yangtse River in China "to intervene to protect British shipping there from interference."

The orders were sent out just after the British merchant ship Anchises was bombed and machinegunned by a Chinese Nationalist plane on the Whangpoo river at Communist-held Shanghai.

Four crew members were wounded in the attack, which the Foreign Under-Secretary, Mr Christopher Mayhew described as "absolutely unwarranted."

Later a spokesman for the Admiralty said in a statement: "The present instructions to the British warship which is stationed off the mouth of the Yangtse are that she is to intervene to protect British shipping there from interference.

"After the Anchises was in 68 feet of water just off the bombed, HMS Black Swan moved "We have been diving almost Whangpoo river, she considered

Agreement At

THE Paris Conference of the Big Four Foreign Ministers has ended, and while it did not produce the desired results, it made considerably more progress than any previous meeting. Most satisfactory feature was the agreement reached on the Austrian peace treaty. The Foreign Ministers settled on general terms which can be said to represent a nice study in compromise: and from Austria's point of view the general conditions laid down cannot be considered harsh. Austria will regain her 1938 frontiers; will not have to pay reparations (although Russia insists upon receiving $150,000,000 in convertible currency in the course of six . years); Austria is to get all property rights or interests claimed as German war assets, and immovable property claimed by the Allies as war booty (which more than offsets the payments to be rendered to Russia). On the debit side, Austria must concede to Yugoslavia full rights to seize or liquidate Austrian property within Yugoslav territory, and the oil assets and Danube Shipping Company property claimed by Russia are to be transferred to the Soviet without charges or claims. Finally it has been ngreed that Austria must provide mority rights for Croats and Slovenes. Ministers' deputies will sit at a round table to draft out the complete trenty between now and the end of August. Austrin, it is certain, will protest against some of the conditions. She will probably declare that the Western Powers have ; sold her out to Soviet avarice and thatthey have given into pressure from the Communist bloc. But, in fact, the Western Powers have finally wrung from the Soviets the two fundamental concessions upon which previous conforences between the Foreign Ministers' deputies had broken down They aref that that no reparations be exacted from the country. As long ago as July, 1948, the Russians had agreed to reduce their demand of $200,000,000 in convertible currency to be paid within two years to the amount now embodied in the general conditions, i.e., $150,000,000 payable within six years. Furthermore, the Western Powers have prevented Yugoslavia from making territorial claims, although, under the clause that permits Yugoslavia to scize or liquidate Austrian property within Yugoslav territory, she virtually obtains reparations. If, in some respects, the general terms of the proposed peace treaty appear to place Austria at some disadvantage, the fact that the way is now cleared for the treaty to be written and ratifled is something for which the people of Austria must feel profoundly thankful. For, as the Austrians have emphasised time and again, continued occupation of the country converts it into four zones and hinders economic reconstruction. The political implications of the proposed treaty cannot be overlooked. Russin, by gaining oll and shipping rights is thus placed in a position where she can exercise profound influence over future political this aspect which makes one hesitate to proffer full approval of the treaty terms finally worked out by the four Foreign. it is improbable that Russia will be content to allow Austria to work out her own destiny in the way she chooses. The insidious operations of the Cominform are inevitable and Austria will have to be very aware of this danger if she is not, eventually, to fall a victim to Soviet Inditration.

Austria's frontiers shall return to those existing before the 1938 Anschluss, and developments within Austria, and it is Ministers. In the light of her past record,

Pluto To Contribute To Ryder Cup Match By ARCHIE QUICK

Pluto, war-time pipe-line under the ocean from the Isle of Wight to France at D-Day, has been converted for use in the sporting world.

The Ryder Cup match between the golf professionals of Britain and the United States is to be played at Ganton, Scarborough, Club in September, and at a cost of £3,000 the club has laid down an irrigation scheme of which two miles of Pluto is the principal factor.

The pipe-line goes out from a natural spring to every fairway and green, pumping 2,000 gallons a minute and being distributed by ingenious sprinklers which automatically creep along at the rate of 22 yards an hour, so that the equivalent of half an inch of rain can be laid down at any time. The course, eight miles inland though it is and because of its sandy subsoil, needs all the water it can

AID ASIAN COUNTRIES

Innately Selfish Capitalism

PLEA MADE ON BEHALF PAKISTAN

London, June 21.—The Pakistan Finance Minister, Mr Ghulam Mohammed, said in London today that Western countries could go a long way towards preserving world peace if they would realise that having exploited Asian countries they now had a moral obligation to assist them.

"Pakistan wants to establish friendly trade relations with every country and also co-operate with all advanced Western countries and, of course, America, in the matter of obtaining technical personnel, know how and managerial ability, which most Asian countries lack.

"I feel that capitalism as practised in Europe must learn to be a little bit more idealistic and less innately selfish. It must be prepared to invest in the goodwill and well-being of the common people though dividends may be a little less.

Cabinet Considers Farm Strike

Rome, June 21.—Premier Alcide de Gasperi called his Cabinet into session today in an effort to find a solution to Italy's damaging 34day-old farm strike.

At the same time, leaders of both Communist and non-Communist lellour unions appealed directly . to Parliament to intorvene quickly to save grain, fruit and forage harvests. Rome's Rightwing Glornale killed, scores wounded and hundreds arrested in violence throughout the strike belt.

The newspaper said, "Comsources" estimate that grain have already been lost due to the strike. Pre-harvest estimates place .Italy's 1949 wheat erop at about 62,000,000 tons—biggest since the war.
